In a Big Hurry.

New York Sun.

"If I buy some dress goods," asked a lady in a dry goods store, "can you deliver them at once?"

"Yes'm," said the clerk.
"There will be no delay?"
"No'm," said the clerk.
"Because I am in a great haste."
"Yes'm," said the clerk.
"Very well, you may show me your summer silks."

In four hours and forty minutes the lady had selected what she wanted, and the tired clerk ordered the goods delivered at once.

"I see, Lucinda, they are going to have a new music pagoda at Manhattan Beach. We must go down next week."
"I don't think I care to, Henry; I can't bear pagodas. If they were going to play waltzes, why, I wouldn't mind. Pagodas are so classical."

Everything points to some red hot contests at the State Convention over the various prizes to be drawn there. No matter how the cat jumps let us all agree to bury the hatchet when the Convention adjourns and pull for the regular nominees—Carson Appeal.

Reno, the Center of the Universe, was not very flatteringly spoken of by that Boston correspondent. Reno being a much handsomer city than the Hub, and having larger baked beans, it aroused the jealousy of the Boston man.—Pioche Record.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

He is Collecting Ammunition for a Vigorous Political Campaign.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—The Enquirer says that those who imagine James G. Blaine is out of politics will find themselves mistaken. He is preparing an assault upon the present Administration in regard to the conduct of the Department of State. Within the last few days he has sent to the Capital for a large list of Executive documents and copies of official communications to Congress from the President and the departments. This indicates that he is preparing for an aggressive campaign. He has got a complete list of the pension vetoes, the appropriations Acts, including the River and Harbor Act, documents relating to the tariff, the coinage of silver, the conduct of the Treasury Department in regard to reducing the surplus, and other subjects upon which the Democratic party in Congress and the Administration have not agreed. His largest demands have been for documents relating to the State Department. He obtained the correspondence concerning the fisheries troubles with Canada and the imprisonment of Editor Cutting in Mexico and copies of new treaties and old treaties with England and with other countries.

A Washington dispatch says when General Arthur was Collector of Customs at New York about $12,000 was stolen from the Custom House, and when the deficiency became known at the Treasury Department the balance due the Collector on his salary—$937—was withheld. Congress at its last session relieved Mr. Arthur from all responsibility for the losses, and the accounts. A warrant was issued on the 8th inst. in his favor for the amount withheld from his salary.

Facts tell more than theories. High license in Illinois, according to the last reports, has increased the revenue of the State from this indirect tax on liquors from $700,000 to over $4,500,000; has reduced the number of saloons from 10,000 to less than 9,000; and in a large number of small villages has abolished liquor shops altogether. In the city of Chicago alone, the license revenues from $200,000 has increased to $1,500,000, with a reduction of 600 in places licensed.

A. M. Keiley, of Virginia, who was objected to as United States Minister both by Italy and Austria, has been appointed to represent the United States at Cairo, Egypt, as a member of the courts created by treaty for the trial of mixed civil cases in which foreigners are involved. He succeeds George S. Batebello, of New York, who has filled the position since 1875.

The Chicago jury has found the seven Anarchists guilty, and fixed the penalty at death. A more righteous verdict was never rendered. America is no place for Anarchists or bomb-throwers.

Hugh J. Mohan has been appointed to a position in the United States Labor Bureau. He will be employed in Washington at present.

Cincinnati will be 100 years old in 1888 and she wants both national conventions to celebrate her centennial.

Judge Jas. H. Fitzgerald, of Nebraska, has been elected President of the Irish National League.

Governor Stoneman has adjourned the California Legislature until September 7th at 2 p. m.

Madam Nevada-Palmer, the American prima donna, has given birth to a daughter.

The apple crop in Ohio will be unusually large this year.

Geronimo has surrendered. Send him to Santa Catalina.

NEVADA IRRIGATION.

Some Interesting Facts on Water.

Don De Quille writes as follows to the Salt Lake Tribune:

In Elko county a company has begun the erection of dams for the storage of water that has heretofore run to waste in the winter. Already they have one dam that will prove to them a mine of wealth. This is a substantial rock dam across a narrow defile in the hills that surround Squaw Valley. This dam fills a basin of 2,000 acres to an average depth of thirteen feet; containing about 8,500,000 gallons of water. They have about twenty-eight miles of irrigation ditches, great and small; have 1,000 acres of alfalfa which is flourishing finely and on which there can be no failure; also considerable crops of grain and vegetables, with much stock of all kinds. Thus their prosperity is insured, for they have a good soil and for moisture are not dependant on a fall of rain from the heaven.

From one end of the State to the other there are places in the Sierras where water could be stored at a small cost for dams. The following are a few localities in Douglas county: On the West Fork of the Carson, Wolf creek and Fish Fall valley; on the Middle Fork, Pleasant valley and Summit lake; on the West Fork, Red lake and a lake in Charity valley. Of these, Wolf creek ranch contains 2,000 acres, 1,200 acres of which can be flooded to an average depth of 15 feet. Pleasant valley (1,800 acres), 1,000 acres can be flooded to a depth of 12 feet; and there are plenty of other places quite as available as those mentioned. At none of these places would dams more than twelve to eighteen feet be required to do as stated. Marlette lake, from which a supply of water for all the Comstock mines and towns is drawn, covers only 200 acres. By means of high dams across the narrow outlets of the large valleys up near the summit of the mountains, immense lakes might be formed. There is no doubt that our engineers could construct dams that would stand wherever required. Across the river Puerco (a small affluent of the Loire), France, is a dam that was constructed to guard the town of St. Etienne against freshets and for supplying it with water, which is 164 feet high and 328 feet in length at the top. It is constructed wholly of stone laid in cement. It is said that the pressure of water, when up to its full height, is sufficient to force water through the pores of the stone, yet the dam has never broken. No such dam would be required anywhere in our mountains, yet we can see from this example what might be done were it considered necessary. In this country the greatest, safest and cheapest storage reservoirs might be constructed at a distance from the mountains where there are valleys almost entirely surrounded by hills, the water to fill them being led down from streams in the Sierras. These would be out of the reach of floods and torrents.

WHITTIER ON TILDEN.

The great old Quaker poet, the most tuneful and pathetic of living bards in this country, John G. Whittier, has listened to the tender inspirations of his loving Muse and echoes her sweet no-noents in a touching threnody to the departed Samuel J. Tilden. Such a tribute is worth more than all prose eulogies from pulpit and press. We copy from the Boston Transcript:

Once more, O all-adjusting Death,
The Nation's Banner opens wide;
Once more a common sorrow saith
A strong, wise man has died.

Faults doubtless had he—Had we not
Our own, to question and asperse
The worth we doubted or forgot
Until we stood beside his bier?

Ambitious, cautious, yet the man
To strike down fraud with resolute hand,
A patriot, if in passion,
He loved his native land.

So let the mourning bells be rung,
The banner droop its folds half way,
And let the public pen and tongue
Their fitting tribute pay.

Then let us vow above his bier
To set our feet on party lies;
And wound no more a living ear
With words that death denies.

A Displaced Officer Reinstated.

Frank W. Bean was nominated eight months ago to be Register of the Land Office at Oxford, I. T., to succeed August Duddenhausen, and has filled the office during that time, but his nomination was rejected by the Senate. Acting Commissioner Stockslager Wednesday telegraphed to Bean to transfer the office back to Duddenhausen. This was done under a decision of the Assistant Secretary that the office must revert to Duddenhausen.

FORESTS AND RIVERS.

An Eastern Recorder of California's Oversight.

New York, August 18.—The Sun devotes its first column to an editorial on the future of California, in which it says the discussion upon certain questions of riparian rights which have lately occupied the attention of the press and people of California, and so stirred the inhabitants of the Pacific Slope, have not reached the point of real interest in any serious treatment of the river problems of Western America. Whether the water which flows through California rivers shall be appropriated by the mining interest, or shall be used to develop the agricultural resources of the State is of little moment to Californians themselves, or to the world at large, in comparison with the infinitely more important question of what is to be the future condition of these rivers themselves. Their very existence is seriously threatened. Two classes of Californians are hotly disputing the right to use water, while the third is silently and slowly destroying the capacity of these rivers to furnish any water at all during the months when the use of water is really essential. The topography of no other part of the world is so adapted to develop dangerous floods and periods of water famine as that of California. Californians, in the meantime, go on in their vain and short-sighted efforts to divert into one or another industrial channel the waters that flow from their mountain reservoirs without any heed to the reservoirs themselves, California, without a permanent summer supply of water, a supply un replenished by summer rains, will perish with its forests. This fact is as immutable as the laws of nature.

PROTECTION FOR PRIMARIES.

Carson Index.

In San Francisco last week a number of men were arrested for voting illegally at the Republican primaries. They will be tried, and if found guilty will be punished, in accordance with the law, by fine and imprisonment. The statutes of California and Nevada, dealing with the crime of voting illegally at a primary election, are very similar, and it is with a view to calling attention to the matter that this is written. But little regard has been paid to this law hitherto, but it is the intention of the officers and other good citizens to see that during the coming campaign at least, there shall be no tampering. The man who wrongfully votes at a primary election is guilty of the worst offense known in politics, and should be made to suffer severely for it. In order to give the people an opportunity to become familiar with the law on this subject it is printed in full on our first page, and will be kept standing until after election. Let each voter read this statute, and resolve himself into a committee of one to see that its provisions are enforced. It is only by determined individual action that such a result can be secured. The columns of this paper are open for the discussion of this subject, and communications are invited from all who take sufficient interest in the welfare of the country to give their thoughts for publication.

Chargeable to the Present Administration.

Ten per cent. is the last depreciation in silver, and ten per cent. is the exact percentage the mills count upon as regular profit. It is evident, therefore, that they must shut down because they cannot run on nothing. All this hardship is chargeable to the Democratic Administration, whose chief executive, along with his Secretary of the Treasury, has been hand in glove with the gold-bugs from his entry into the office, and whose every act has been to degrade silver—the chief product of the West and the Coast.—Halley Times.

Senator John P. Jones sends word that he will use his best efforts to prevent the re-election of Senator Fair. Senator Jones will be here in a few days, and will throw all his splendid energies into the contest. John Mackay will also put his shoulder to the wheel, and all along the Republican line there will be an unbroken front of opposition to the man who has misrepresented Nevada and her interests for six years, but who shall do so no more.—Index.

Another name has been added to the list of Republican gubernatorial candidates, that of Hon. Evan Williams, of Ormsby. He would not be a bad choice for the Republicans to make.—Dayton News Reporter.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the coming fair of the Lyon County Agricultural Association at Washoe. The prospects are that it will be a very successful exhibition.—Dayton News Reporter.

New Postage Stamps.

Rochester Democrat.

Collectors of postage stamps will soon find some new specimens. It is said that there are none more curious in recent years than the new issue of Madagascar. It is three and a quarter inches long by two and a half inches wide. This curiosity will be eagerly sought. There are eight in all, ranging in value from one penny to two shillings. They are issued by England for letters mailed at the British consulate in Antananarivo, and gummed only in the corner. The letters are sent to Mauritius, where the Madagascar stamp is removed and kept for a voucher and the Mauritius stamp substituted. The Peruvian Government announces that its old stamps are to be redeemed and new ones are to be issued in purple, green, blue, etc. Paraguay is having a one green and three vermilion, similar to 1884, printed in Buenos Ayres. The United States of Columbia have issued a hideous ten yellow, with the head of President Nanez. A complete issue is announced. Antioquia has issued a new set—one green, two and a half blue on yellow, and five blue—similar to last years'. Shanghai rejoices in a new issue, forty, eighty and one hundred each. The forty's of Shanghai reached the United States about ten days ago. Persons in the South American States will find that the stamp collectors will be begging their letter envelopes for some time.

Race in Assassination.

Chicago Times.

One who has followed the evidence thus far presented in the trial of the Anarchists must have noticed that in all the meetings in which property was denounced and murder advocated the speaking was rarely or never in English. Among the defendants on trial there is but one Englishman; all the others are men who have plotted in a foreign language, and who, in fact, have been obliged to carry on their proceedings in another language for the reason that they do not know that of the people whom they are conspiring to rob and assassinate.

It is rather satisfactory to the native American element to learn from this trial that the men who are dissatisfied with our way of doing things are not born to the soil. There seems to be no complaint from within the American household of the management, but there is much from some tramps from the Old World who have come over here partly to escape starvation at home and partly, in many cases, to avoid the prison and the gallows.

And All Nature Seemed to Snicker.

San Francisco Chronicle.

They were sitting in the sunset. The winds were quiet, the far-distant sea gleamed dimly and pleasantly upon the beach, and its monotone floated on the simple, gentle, impartial evening breeze that carried along everything it came across in the way of sound into the sunlit foliage. He was a flirt and she was a flirt in that kingdom by the sea. What she did not know about it he could not tell her and the conversation of flirtation went in the customary form. He had not reached the stage where he hummed in her pensive ear and old, old ballad about love and devotion and hearts and things, and she laid her hand softly upon his head and smoothed his shining locks.

"Isn't it a pretty air?" he said.
"Yes," she said, with the slightest aspirate before the "s," "your 'air is such a beautiful chestnut."

And all nature seemed to snicker.

Hard to Please.

Wayne County (O.) Democrat.

Last Fall Republican editors and stumpers said that the Democrats would bankrupt the United States Treasury in less than no time. Now, in a fault finding way, they say the Democrats are keeping the United States Treasury full to overflowing. Very hard to please, are these Republicans.

The west bound train was four hours late last night, and the day train from San Francisco was an hour late.

Mrs. John Wilson was reported in a dying condition last night, and not expected to live until this morning.

Walter Hasting's popular soiree at the Theater this evening as usual. Good music. Admission 50 cents.

Candidates are reminded that it will not cost any more to announce now than it will just one day before the Convention meets.

John W. Mackay will leave San Francisco for New York and Europe, in a few days. He will visit the Comstock the latter part of October.

Grant I. Taggart, formerly Clerk of the Supreme Court of California, but now in the cattle business up north, was in town last night.

Judge D. C. McKenney spent the day in Reno yesterday. He will leave for Stillwater this morning, where he has some court business to attend to.

At the Meadow Lake mines seventeen men are engaged in erecting the mill and four or five men are employed in the woods. There are about 15,000 tons of rock on the dumps which, it is claimed, will net $16 to the ton.

The Democratic primaries for the election of ten delegates to the State Convention will be held throughout the county to-day, between the hours of 2 and 9 p. m. The Winters men have the fight all their way and there will not be any other ticket in the field.

AN INDIAN MURDERER KILLED.—The drunken Indian who killed Ed. Lamberger at his ranch in Smoky valley, south of Austin last week, applied at Hutton's ranch two days after the murder for something to eat. For a time he refused to get off his horse, but Hutton finally persuaded him to. The Indian placed his rifle against a fence, when it was seized by another white man. A fierce struggle ensued for the possession of the gun, when Hutton rushed out of his house with a rifle and shot the Indian dead.

MINERS' UNION PICNIC.—At the meeting of the Virginia Miners' Union, held Wednesday evening, the matter of the regular annual picnic was fully discussed, and it was decided to hold the same on Saturday, the 4th day of September, next, at Treadway's Park, Carson City. Should the present fine weather continue, everything will be propitious for the grand picnic of the season.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE FOR SEPTEMBER.—Opens with the second installment of Mr. Powell's interesting "Leaves From My Life," with portraits of Robert Southey, William Wordsworth, S. T. Coleman, Leigh Hunt and Miss Landon. A very interesting article is "Why do Church Bells Annoy?" by Dr. S. Austen Pearce, Mrs. Doc. Oxen, which is illustrated with no less than fourteen cuts. This is appropriately followed by Bullwer's translation of Schiller's "The Lay of the Bell," with three illustrations. "Dilettante Days" comes to an end in this number, which those who have followed the author in this delightful story of travel will regret. How much of the story is truth, and how much is fiction the author has not revealed. The other serials, "The Gems She Wore," "Paulina" and "The Tapestry Room," run on interestingly. There are two views, exterior and interior, of the new St. Thomas' Church at Mamaroneck, N. Y., and a view of a Russian Church erected in memory of Vladimir, a Russian prince and saint. The portraits of this number include Nicholas Gogol, a Russian author; Bishop Tuttle; Mrs. Leokadia Regutenko, a Bulgarian female surgeon; and the Rev. Dr. Sunderland, who married the President. There are numerous short articles, poems and mid-Summer illustrations, making up a bright and interesting number of this favorite family magazine.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY FOR SEPTEMBER.—Charles Stewart Parnell is the subject of a brilliant article in the September number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, illustrated by a series of exquisite pictures of Avondale, the home of the greatest Irish leader after O'Connell in this century. Mrs. C. Ingersoll Gara describes, with pen and pencil, the charming land and sea scenes at Erie, the ancient Presqu' Isle. Mr. Whymper tells about "Design in Feathers." Col. Charles Chaille Long, the well-known explorer, treats us to an off-hand sketch of experience in Barmah. Edmond Mallet, the leader of the French Canadians in this country, tells the story of "The Early Days of Montreal," and enriches it with attractive illustrations. "Pasteur's Life and Labors" needs no commendation. "Footprints of Jeanne d'Arc" takes us to the scenes connected with her wonderful career; and the American Giacomelli, W. H. Gibson, tells of "Some Common Dangerous Plants." These striking articles, with stories by Prof. Boutelle, Etta W. Pierce, P. A. Vinal, M. F. Aymer and F. B. Halliwell, make the number a most attractive one, full of attractively old facts and charming pictures.

A GREAT OVERSIGHT.—The Dayton News Reporter says:

Hon. W. M. Haveror, Nevada's very efficient Commissioner to the New Orleans Exposition, was recently interviewed by a reporter of this paper. He says that what he most wanted when in New Orleans was a pamphlet showing the resources of Nevada—a description of the principal agricultural sections, the soil of the valleys and the hills, rainfall, climate and the like. All were astonished at the exhibit of cereals, vegetables and other products of the soil of a State which they looked upon as being good for nothing but metals and minerals. The first thing they asked for was a pamphlet descriptive of the country. Being told that nothing of the kind had been published, they were astonished. "What, haven't you got something in which is given the resources and capabilities of your State—something about the soil, climate, public lands, etc.?" "No," Mr. Haveror was obliged to answer, "I have nothing of the kind." He says he was often ashamed to make such an answer, and would set to work and tell all he knew about the soil, climate and products of the different parts of the State. Evidently something of the kind should be written and printed, to be sent wherever information in regard to the State is wanted.

SHERIFF.—D. H. Pine is first in the field to announce himself as a candidate for Sheriff, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention. Dan was one of the early residents, in fact one of the oldest inhabitants, has had great experience in criminal business, is now Under Sheriff, and if nominated and elected would make a faithful officer. Should he receive the nomination he seeks it would afford the JOURNAL great pleasure to press his claims before the voters.
